

WEBSITES

A website for your business.

Whatever you do — a clinic, a shop, a restaurant, a factory, a hotel, a school — people look you up before they get in touch. We build the website they find.

LOGISTICS

Why you need one.

People check you out first

Before anyone rings you, they search your name. What they find in those few seconds decides whether they pick up the phone or quietly move on to the next result.

They are looking on a phone

Almost everyone looks you up on their phone. If your site is hard to read or slow to open on one, they leave — and you never find out they were there.

An old site makes you look old

If the website looks like it was made ten years ago, people wonder whether everything else is out of date too. Fair or not, that is the judgement they make.

Being easy to reach wins the job

One tap to call. One tap to message. Every extra step between wanting to contact you and doing it loses somebody who was ready.

WHO IT IS FOR

Any business. Any trade.

There is no such thing as a business too small or too ordinary for a website. If people search for what you do, you need to be what they find.

CONSULTANTS

We have already built for most of these. The job is the same either way: work out what your customers need to see, then make it easy for them to get in touch with you.

What is included.

It works properly on a phone

Most of your customers will see it on a phone, so we build it for a phone first. Big enough to read, easy to tap, nothing running off the side of the screen.

People can find you on Google

We set it up so Google understands what you do and where you are, and shows you to people searching for it nearby.

Getting in touch is one tap

A button to call you. A button to message you on WhatsApp. A form for anyone who would rather write. Right where somebody is ready to use it.

It opens quickly

Even on a weak signal. People do not wait around for a slow page — they go back and tap whoever is below you.

It belongs to you

Your own web address, your own site. No monthly rent to a website company, and nothing you would have to rebuild if you ever stop working with us.

You can change it yourself

If you want it, we set it up so you can update your own text, photos, prices and timings without having to ring anybody.

How it works.

01

We talk

You tell us what you do and who your customers are. Half an hour on the phone is usually all it takes.

02

We show you a design

Before we build anything, you see exactly what it will look like. You tell us what to change, and we change it.

03

We build it

You watch it come together in pieces rather than waiting weeks to see it all at the end.

04 You check it

You open it on your own phone and go through it properly. Anything you do not like, we fix.

05 It goes live

We handle the web address, the hosting and the Google setup. Nothing technical for you to arrange.

06 We look after it

Changes, fixes and new pages whenever you need them. You ring us, we sort it.

Give us a ring or send a message on WhatsApp and tell us what you do. We will tell you plainly what it would involve and what it would cost, before you commit to anything.
