

WEBSITES • SOFTWARE • APPS

We build fast, sharp software that holds up when it actually matters.

Summit Studios is a small, senior studio in Mangaluru. We design and build websites and custom software for clinics, founders and growing businesses — end to end, so you can get on with running the place.

ONGOING SUPPORT

What makes a website actually work.

Most enquiries start here, so it is worth being precise. A site is not a brochure that sits there — it is the thing that turns someone searching at 11pm into a booking in your calendar.

Built for the phone first

Most of your customers arrive on a phone, often on patchy mobile data. Every site is built and tested that way round, not squeezed down from a desktop layout afterwards.

Made to be found

Proper titles, descriptions, structured data and a sitemap, so Google can read the site and show it properly. Sharing a link puts a real preview card in WhatsApp instead of a bare URL.

A clear path to enquiry

Booking and click-to-call sit exactly where a reader is ready to act, so interest turns into an actual message rather than a bounce.

Fast, and it stays fast

Compressed images, no bloated page builders, and hosting on a global CDN. Pages open before someone loses patience.

Yours, not rented

A custom build on your own domain and hosting. No monthly template fee, no platform lock-in, and nothing to migrate later.

Beyond the website.

Once the enquiries arrive, something has to handle them. That is the second half of what we do: the dashboards, apps and systems that run quietly in the background.

One place to run the business

Dashboards that pull leads, patients, orders and staff into a single screen, so you stop stitching the picture together from spreadsheets and chat threads.

Shaped to how you already work

Off-the-shelf tools make you work their way. We build around your process, then automate the repetitive parts that eat the week.

Apps that earn their place

iOS and Android, taken through to the App Store and Play Store, and built to feel quick on a mid-range phone rather than only a new one.

Built to carry real traffic

Secure APIs and databases with monitoring in place, so growth becomes a good problem instead of an outage on your busiest day.

Most projects start with a website and grow into the rest. Because it is all built in-house, the pieces talk to each other instead of being stitched together later.

Four steps, and you see every one of them.

We dig into what you are really trying to do before anyone writes a line of code.

02

Design it

We sketch, prototype, and get it in front of you early, so there are no surprises.

03

Build it

We ship in small pieces you can see and use, instead of disappearing for months.

04

Look after it

After launch we keep it healthy and help it grow as you learn what works.

You deal with the people building the thing. No account managers, no handovers to a junior team, and no month-long silences.
